SUSTAINED.

Contentions of Western Union
Telegram Company in All Points.

A DEFEAT FOR THE PLAINTIFFS.

A special to the Courier-Journal from St. Louis says:

Judge Rogers in the United States Circuit Court Monday handed down an opinion sustaining the demurrer of the Western Union Telegraph Company in the labor injunction case of Boyer et al. against that company. In the written opinion Judge Rogers sustains every point urged by Attorney Elenius Smith, representing the defendant company, holding that the company has the absolute right to dismiss employees because they belong to the union, or for any other reason; that there can be no conspiracy to do a lawful act; that the so-called blacklist may be maintained and given out for the use of others.

ORIGIN OF THE SUIT.

The suit resulted from a bill filed by Telegraphic Operator Arthur Boyer and others, alleging they were members of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, Local Lodge No. 3, of St. Louis, and that they had been discharged from the service of the Western Union Telegraph Company solely because they belonged to the union; that it was the intention of the Western Union Company to discharge employees solely because they belong to the union, and that a conspiracy existed between the St. Louis officers of the Western Union Company to discharge all employees belonging to the union and to break it up; that the Western Union maintains a list, so called "blacklist," on which has been placed the names of the members of the union discharged, and that this is furnished to others and thereby those blacklisted have been prevented from obtaining other employment.

The bill sought to prevent the Western Union Company from discharging any employee because of his being a member of the union.

Judge Rogers held that the Western Union Company had the absolute right to discharge employees not having contractual relations with the company, for any cause or without cause; that the company had the right to maintain a list on which might be placed the name of a discharged employee and the cause of discharge, and this list might be given others, provided its contents were truthful and its circulation honest; that as the bill alleged, the union was formed for moral and proper purposes, there should exist no objection upon the part of an employee to have his discharge based upon the mere fact that he was a member of such an order.

Railroad Flirting Prohibited.

(Terre Haute Telegram to the New York Sun).

A bulletin prohibiting flirting has been posted on the Terre Haute division of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois. The bulletin reads:

"Complaint has been made that some of our trainmen, especially some of those employed on the Terre Haute division locally, are in the habit of flirting with the ladies residing along our tracks at West Montezuma and Hillsdale. The offenders are liable to get themselves into serious trouble if the practice is continued. A word to the wise is sufficient."

JUDGE L. B. HALL.
Dies Suddenly of Heart Disease at His
Near Sesbie—Was County Judge
Twenty-four Years.

Judge L. B. Hall, one of the most prominent citizens in Webster county and this end of the state, dropped dead early Friday morning while at work on his Deer creek farm, about half way between Seesbie and Slaughtererville. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of his death. He had been in good health and no one had heard him complain of feeling ill in the least.

Judge Hall for twenty-four years served continuously as county judge of Webster county and at the close of his sixth term retired from active life. At the time of his death he was still a resident of Dixon but since his retirement from office much of his time was spent on the farm. He was sixty-five years old and leaves a wife and several children. He had been a member of the Methodist church for many years. The last sad rites were held at Dixon Saturday afternoon and the funeral was attended by one of the largest crowds ever seen in Dixon.

He Needs No Pity.

"Don't pity the country editor. He is as contented as a cow puffed up by eating too many rose geraniums. Pray for the spindle-shanked gazoo that is living the strenuous life in the metropolis. He needs it. Don't lose any sleep over the man who edits your home paper. He may not know a panegyric from a mist formula for making apple butter, but he knows a hypocrite when he sees one and dare call him so to his face. He probably eats with his knife and wears shirts with holes in 'em, but no domineering managing editor can make him eat dirt. He is not to the manner born, neither has he an escutcheon embroidered on his linen, but he has wiped his aquiline nose on the dross sack of civilization and kicked his boots from the frozen floor of a farmer's kitchen and in the slang of the present 'Has been up against it.' To be poked at by the city brother when his paper announces to the world in a flourish of long printer that Sir Gladstone's choice ball calf would itself to death on an ear of corn don't ruffle him at all, for he rests secure in the consciousness that it will please 'Si' and don't hurt the city chap."

A Handy Question.

Joseph Chamberlain was delivering a political speech in Birmingham, England. The hall so packed that not another human being could have crowded in. The enthusiasm was tremendous, but suddenly a scowling man arose in the middle of the crowd.

"What did Mr. Gladstone say in 1872?" he howled. "Shame!" "Put him out!" yelled the crowd.

Three sturdy men hurled the interrupter a few yards, and others helped hustle him to the street.

As he was picking himself up and brushing off the dust he grinned pleasantly at a man who had followed him from the hall and who asked him, "What did Mr. Gladstone say in 1872?"

"I don't know," he replied, "and I don't care. I had a terrible toothache, and I couldn't bat my way through that crowd, thing to do was to get thrown out."

CRIPPLE CREEK

Operators Make Public Statement Showing
Injustice of Strike Arbitrarily Ordered
By Union Leaders

OUTRAGE AGAINST BOTH EMPLOYERS AND EMPLOYED.

At the conclusion of an executive meeting of the mine owners and managers of the Cripple Creek district at the offices of the Bank of Victor, Colorado, the following statement was made public:

"A general strike has been called on the mines of the Cripple Creek district by the executive heads of the Western Federation of Miners. At the time the strike was called, and in fact, ever since the settlement of the labor difficulties of 1894, the most entire harmony and good will have prevailed between employers and the employed in this district. Wages and hours of labor have been satisfactory and according to union standards, and general labor conditions have been all that could be wished. Notwithstanding all this, the heads of the Western Federation have seen fit to compel a cessation of all labor in the district, not because of any grievance of their own against the Cripple Creek operators, but for reasons entirely beyond our control. No more arbitrary and unjustifiable action meets the annals of organized labor, and we denounce it as an outrage against both employers and employed. The fact that there are no grievances to adjust, and no unsatisfactory conditions to remedy, leaves the mine operators but one alternative, and that alternative they propose to adopt fearlessly.

As fast as men can be secured our mining operations will be resumed under former conditions, preference being given to former employees, and all men applying for work will be protected to the last degree. In this effort to restore the happy conditions which have so long prevailed, we ask, and confidently count on, the cooperation and support of all our former employees who do not approve the methods adopted, as well as the business men of the district, who are equal sufferers with us.

In resumption of operations, preference will be given to former employees, as before stated, and those desiring to resume their old positions are requested to furnish their names to their respective mines at an early date."

Trials of a Fishing Trip.

John Long, of Madisonville, and his brother, John, were both killed in a boat accident on Pond River.

While a party of Earlington and Madisonville fishermen were returning from Ramsey last Thursday night they attempted to cross on the submerged bridge over Pond River on account of the water being to low for the ferry boat to be used.

"When near this side of the river the hind wheel of the wagon floated off the bridge and it was impossible to get them on without the party of six men getting down in the water and lifting it on.

After they did succeed in getting the hind wheel on the fore wheels and one of the males fell off the bridge and it was while trying to rescue the animal that Mr. John Long and his brother were both knocked down. In the water under the mule and wagon. The prompt assistance of the remainder of the party saved them and after several hours work in the dark they finally got the wagon safely over the bridge by taking the mule out and pulling the wagon by hand. M. B. Long, of this city, who was one of the party, says it was the most unsatisfactory mode of crossing Pond River he has ever experienced and he does not care to repeat it.

As he was picking himself up and brushing off the dust he grinned pleasantly at a man who had followed him from the hall and who asked him, "What did Mr. Gladstone say in 1872?"

"I don't know," he replied, "and I don't care. I had a terrible toothache, and I couldn't bat my way through that crowd, thing to do was to get thrown out."

LAST PILE

Driven for Foundation of L. & N. Shops
to Be Built in Louisville.

The last one of the 3,000 piles which form the basis for the shops to be erected in South Louisville by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company at the cost of $2,000,000 was driven Saturday, putting the site in readiness for the ground work and superstructure. The contracts for erecting the steel buildings and other structures which will comprise the shops to be erected will be let immediately by R. Montford, chief engineer, who has bids before him on the work.

The completion of the contract for driving the piles marks the first stage in the erection of the shops. The contract was held by George Lawrie, of Montgomery.

The company which Mr. Lawrie represents brought to Louisville a piledriver, the hammer of which weighs 10,000 pounds, and the large piles on top of the foundation for the massive steel work will rest were driven home rapidly and satisfactorily. The piles were sunk thirty feet in the ground, and the work was more difficult from the fact that much rock was in the composition of the soil. The foundation will be placed on top of the piles, and it will be impossible for the ground work of the buildings to become insecure from an uneven or unsteady basis.

RIOTS ON

Between Strikers and Non Union Men
Near Wheeling—Several People Wounded.

A special from Wheeling, W. Va., to the Courier-Journal says:

A clash of union and nonunion men in which 1,000 shots were fired and several men were injured took place early Sunday morning between 300 striking machinists and 25 nonunion men who had taken their places in the Riverside plant of the United States Steel Corporation. The battle was begun Saturday night. The machinists have been out on strike for several weeks, and the situation was becoming desperate for the corporation until it imported about twenty men to take the places of the strikers. The men have been assaulted from time to time, but the situation has not reached an alarming stage heretofore.

The strikers congregated about the boarding houses of the nonunionists last night, fully armed, and began an attack on the places. The houses were heavily barricaded and many volleys were fired into the structure.

Finally a well directed shot from within the house wounded one of the strikers and he was carried to a hospital. Clay Hoover, a spectator, was shot in the left knee. A number of other people who were in the building with the nonunionists received wounds. The rioting continued until 2 o'clock this morning, when it abated somewhat. The police were powerless to interfere, and re-enforcements were requested. A fresh outbreak is feared at any moment.

At 10 o'clock tonight the strikers, who are lying in the hills, fired on Peter Silatok as he passed. He was seriously wounded. The strikers mistook him, thinking he was a spy.

It is a good thing lawyers reap their reward on earth as the majority of them will repose in Heaven.

The French national day at the World's Fair in 1904 will be July 15.

DENVER SURGEON

Has Record on Appendix—Dr. W. W. Grant First to Remove This Separately Undiseased Organ.

EARLINGTON SURGEON HAS ENVIRABLE RECORD OF NUMBER OF SUCCESSFUL OPERATIONS.

By an investigation of the New York Sun the fact has developed that a denver physician, Dr. W. W. Grant, was the first surgeon to attempt the operation for appendicitis. Dr. Grant's operation of cutting into the abdomen and removing the vermiform appendix was performed in Davenport, Ia., on Jan. 4, 1885. His patient also lived there at the time, but is now in Chicago.

Following closely on the achievement of Dr. Grant a New York surgeon, Dr. McBurney, performed the same operation in 1888. Dr. Morton, of Philadelphia, preceded the New York surgeon by almost a year.

Considerable discussion has of late been aroused as to who was the first to discover the importance of the appendix as a factor in disease and to remove the cause, and it is considered not only an honor to Denver but to American surgery than an American and a Denverite was the first.

Dr. C. L. Wheaton, of the Gross Medical College, in writing for the Colorado Medical Journal says: "It is recorded in the surgical history of appendicitis that W. W. Grant ligated the appendix Jan. 4, 1885. This is the first recorded operation. It should be a source of pride to every American physician to know that his countrymen have been leaders in this field of medicine."

Dr. E. A. Chatten, of Earlington, has been pre-eminently successful in numerous operations for appendicitis and other capital operations.

He has had some twenty odd such operations, some of the patients coming to him from a distance, and almost 100 per cent. have been successful.

The doctor knows what it is as he has been on the operating table himself and has made a study of it in Chicago.

JNO. W. HEADLEY, JR.

Brings Suit Against the I. C. R. R. for $20,000—Charges False Arrest.

John W. Headley, Jr., entered suit yesterday against the Illinois Central Railroad Company and Edward Kiefer, the company's gatekeeper at Union depot, for $20,000 damages, says Tuesday's Courier-Journal.

The defendant, Kiefer, with having been responsible for his false arrest at Union depot May 12.

He says that Kiefer, without cause, accused him of "bouncing people out of money and diamonds."

He states further that Kiefer pointed him out to Police Sergeant M. L. Sullivan, who arrested him as a suspected felon. The petition recites further that the plaintiff was released on bond and that on May 19 he was tried in the police court and acquitted.

The plaintiff declares that he was rearrested in Louisville and that he has borne a good reputation.

Fire in Madisonville.

The grocery store of Buck & Co. of Madisonville caught on fire Monday night and burned slowly for some time. It was thought several kegs of powder was stored in the rear of the store, where the fire originated, and the people were dietary about putting the fire out until one of the clerks arrived on the scene and informed them he had removed the powder up front.

The fire was soon extinguished and little damage was done. The loss was fully covered by insurance.

THE PRINTER.

what He Has Done and Is Still Doing for the Human Race—World Could Not Do Without Him.

The recent convention of printers in Washington brought from the Post of that city the following tribute to the "pioneers of the army of human progress and emancipation," the men without whom there would be little intelligence in the country: "Without them the teachers of the ages would have taught in vain; the dreams of philosophers would have vanished with the tapers that burned for their meditations; Luther, Shakespeare, Goethe, Wesley, Swedenborg, Newton, Jenner, Stephen and Rousseau would be unknown beyond a narrow and jealous circle; the Dark Ages would still brood over the human race, and ignorance and fear and superstition hold us in degrading bondage."

Men may write and men may think and think, but without the printer their thoughts would be of little value to the world. Among all the trades there is not one more honorable or important than that of the printer, the man who edges up the metallic messengers of thought with nimble fingers or who manipulates with dexterous hand the keyboard of that marvelous invention which continually excites intelligent wonder and admiration, the linotype, that monument to Otto Mengenhaler's genius which the wisest man should be proud to claim. The composing and press rooms of a great modern daily newspaper cease to be impressive to the thoughtful man, even though his days and nights may be spent therein. The world cannot do without the printer.

Pius X.

Giuseppe Sarto, Pope Pius X., is, at his age of 68, to be numbered rather among the younger than among the older members of the college of cardinals. It was at the same age, within two months, that Leo XIII, twenty-five years ago, ascended the throne of St. Peter.

While it does not follow that the new pope will have as long a reign as his predecessor, he has a strength and vigor which give promise of a long life, and it is probable that his pontificate will be a momentous one.

It is said that the power of the pope, stripped of temporal authority though he is, was never so great as today. The range of the problems that Pius will be called upon to solve reaches around the world; the influence that he will exercise extends far beyond the bounds of the communion of his followers. He must himself be influenced by the fact that he takes up his duties while the universal expressions of sympathy and good will that were everywhere felt for Leo are still fresh in his ears.

From cardinal patriarch of Venice to pontiff maximus is a great step. The Giuseppe Sarto of the old life spend all his hours among his people and his books, Charity, piety and study filled his round of activity. The administration of the great mechanism of Catholicism concerned him very little.

The Pope Pius of the new life must move to the opposite pole. Yet he will take with him those same qualities of prudence and wisdom, those same personal virtues, which he possessed as cardinal. And it is believed by those who know him best that his policies and his methods will steadily advance the interests of the church.—Chicago Record-Herald.

IN THE INTEREST

OF THE

...Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Edited by a White Ribboner.

At the whiskey election held in the town of White Plains precinct Saturday, the "dry's" won the election. In the town the vote stood 23 for whiskey and 25 against, a victory for the anti-saloon people of two votes. In the precinct 72 voted "wet" and 89 "dry," a majority of 17 against the saloon. The fight was not a very bitter one and everything passed off quietly, considering the close vote.

Two saloons have been in operation at White Plains, one by Reynolds & Co., and the other by Robert Whitfield. The license of both will expire some time in December.

The world's progress during the past fifty years is truly remarkable. An invention is conceived but is scarcely put into a working model before an improvement is designed which largely supersedes the original. Discovery after discovery is made which promises to work wonders in our every day affairs.

Reforms may seem to move slowly, but they are sure. Prohibition is now gaining ground more rapidly than any other reform.

Appearances are that within twenty-five years it will be as much a disgrace for a preacher or a church member to vote as to legalize and protect the saloon as it is now for either to get drunk, although even that was common fifty years ago.

The Bible stated as plainly then as now, "The drunkard shall not inherit the kingdom of heaven," and the command then as now was, "Look not upon the wine when it is red," but preachers and church members "looked upon the wine," drank it and became drunk.

The Bible states now as plainly as it can twenty-five years hence that he who assists, or even teaches a false doctrine, is a partaker of his evil deeds, and that no one is to put a stumbling block or an occasion to fall in a brother's way, and yet we continue to vote into power the men and parties which teach and practice the false doctrine, of legalizing and protecting the saloon for a share in the profits; which men and parties also legalize and protect the worst "stumbling block and occasion to fall" (the saloon) which it is possible to put into a brother's way.

But within twenty-five years ministers will preach the truth more fully and practice what they preach, and church members' members will more nearly practice what they profess.

This is progress the world waits for. This is the reform that will bring national Prohibition and its enforcement. See 2 John 10:11.

If we took as much pains to keep the tender lambs as we do to convert the tough old wolves the latter would soon die of starvation.—Ram's Horn.

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of "regulation" in dealing with the saloon.

If an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, then let us abolish the making and selling of intoxicating beverages, and thus prevent the saloon from making drunkards of our boys, we will have no drunkards to cure.

Prohibition in Mississippi.

Prohibition has certainly proved a great and unlimited blessing to Mississippi. The present assessed valuation of the State is over $240,000,000, an increase of $50,000,000 in the past three years. Appropriations for educational purposes for 1902 amount to $1,757,900; as compared with 1899, they show an increase of $600,708. Bank deposits have increased from 92 to 101 per cent. in the past three years, while the surplus has more than quadrupled. A new million dollar state capitol is nearing completion, and Mississippi bonds are way above par.

FIRST "LYNCHING."

Was the Action of a Quaker Judge in the Revolutionary War.

It is curious how comparatively unimportant events in the careers of two upright and honest men have caused their names to be infamously perpetuated. Those names have not only become associated with certain lawless acts, but so universal is their use that they are now incorporated in all dictionaries of the English language as words, without even being qualified as slang.

The word "boycott," defined as a verb, signifying "to come against by refusing to deal or associate with or purchase of," owes its origin to the fact that Captain Boycott, an inoffensive Irish land owner, was the first victim of a practice which has since become widespread, and the word "lynch," or lynch law, which according to the dictionary, means "the summary infliction of punishment by a self-appointed commission without trial at law," cruelly maligns the memory of Charles Lynch, a simple Quaker gentleman, who served his country well as a righteous judge, a brave soldier, and an upright statesman.

In the year of 1780 Charles Lynch, of Bedford, Va., was colonel of militia for his county. The armies of General Phillips and the traitor Benedict Arnold were spreading terror throughout the colony, and Lord Cornwallis himself was approaching from Georgia: Encouraged by this situation, some Bedford Tories, headed Robert Cowan and Thomas Watts, entered into a conspiracy to upset the county organization and seize the use of Cornwallis' stores which Lynch had collected for General Green's army in North Carolina.

Cowan and Watts had formerly been fellow justices on the bench with Lynch, who was just setting out with his regiment to oppose the British under Benedict Arnold. When the action of the two Virginians became known to him, he had them arrested for treason. They were carefully and deliberately tried, and Cowan, the ringleader, was sentenced to a year's imprisonment and a fine of £20,000. The passing of this sentence was the first "lynching" on record. Inasmuch as Judge Lynch and the county court clearly transcended their powers. The general court alone had jurisdiction in cases of treason. Though this action which though mild was undoubtedly arbitrary and unconstitutional. The name of Judge Lynch has been for generations associated with all manner of horrible deaths inflicted upon wrongdoers by infuriated mobs, and "Lynch law" is regarded by many as the foulest blot upon our boasted civilization. Thus is the name of the Quaker judge perpetually calumniated.

After the Revolutionary War the act of Judge Lynch was legalized by special act of the Virginia legislature. Judge Lynch was born in 1736 at Chestnut Hill, his father's estate on the James river, where his brother afterward found the city of Lynchburg.—N. Y. Press.

Gun Club Shoot.

The Earlington Gun Club met Thursday for the first time in several weeks. The boys have been attending gun club and there was something there did not meet at their usual meeting. However, they had to show the people they had not forgotten how to shoot and did, with the exception of little Buntin, who never shot over a trap before and is not a member of the club. The boys did some good shooting, Lee Oldham and Coy Morgan making perfect scores. When Oldham broke his 26th he jumped, some of the boys saw, six feet high, threw his hat 20 yards, and would have shot it to pieces had it not been for someone who informed him that Morgan had done the same thing. Coy Morgan, the only boy he had, it would be best not to tell. Earlington has one of the best gun clubs in this part of the country. Thursday they made an average of over 80 percent, which is an excellent score for 13 shooters in a town of this size. Following is the score out of a possible 25 targets:

Lee Oldham...	25
Coy Morgan...	25
Dr. Chatten...	22
W. G. Barter...	22
Henry Bourland...	21
Dr. Renfrow...	21
W. A. Known...	20
Sam Stinebaugh...	20
Thos. Peyton...	19
Jas. J. Martin...	17
Cal Martin...	17
Ivo X. Taylor...	17
Sam Buntin...	16

James Ligon is improving fast. It hasn't been long since Jim was in that 11 class. Now he is good for 16 or 18.

W. G. Barter will never be satisfied until he breaks 25 straight. Bill is always good for 22 or 23, but looks like he can't get the others.

Dr. Chatten says it is no trouble for him to get 22, but that he won't wear the medal any more.

Henry Bourland is getting to be a crack shot. We know Henry was good for something.

Bob Stinebaugh says if he had got any straight birds he would have got off of his. Too tough, Bob.

Jno. X. seemed to be made because he only got 17. He ought to have been tickled to death at getting that many.

Cal Martin shoots well, but he doesn't hit often enough. See if you can't get 20 next time, Cal.

Look out for Doc next Thursday. Mrs. Renfrow got after him again and you know what he did before.

TEN YEARS AGO

BLUE G. HARD.

The place is not the same, dear Bob. I saw ten short years ago; I saw many, many changes As we wandered to and fro.

The old court house has been torn down.

Where for a hundred years Lawyer thundered eloquently That brought forth smiles and tears.

The depot, too, has been removed Across the railroad tracks; 'Twas there you and I began To be literary hacks.

And old Gray John has left this world.

Of trouble, toil and woe, To mix with kindred spirits In regions down below.

Col. Sprouts still plies his trade. But not as once before;

He does not hook the finny tribe As he did in days of yore.

Bill Dick still carries U. S. mail.

But not in the same old way;

His step is not so sprightly now.

Or his whistle quite so gay.

A brand new bank adorns the square,

New dwellings in a row,

Oh, no, it's nothing like the place I knew ten years ago.

The sweet-gum log that used to lie Underneath the spring,

Is replaced by a poplar tough—A useless modern think.

The leaning birch where we carved our names

Is dead and withered now,

Like the one that stands at the "Lonely Grave"

Where the lovers exchanged their vows.

Ten years, how swiftly time doth fly,

On noiseless, rushing wing,

I turn with restless longing

And wonder what the next will bring.

The deathless Penai.

A little thin sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny bums have paid the heavy penalty of life.

Take Bunkie's Armful of Sorrow, handily! It's the best Salve on earth and will prevent fatality, when Burns, Sores, Ulcers and Piles threaten. Only 25¢ at Drug Store.

THURSDAY, AUG. 20, 1903.

A CATALOGUE announcing the first Annual Fair to be held at the new grounds at Sebree, Ky., Sept. 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26th is out. It is gotten up in a neat attractive style. The premium list is extensive and some good premiums are offered. There will be novelty races and various other attractions each day of the fair and the initial effort of Sebree and Webster county should be liberally patronized.

There have been many and varied causes given for securing divorces, but the latest from Bennie Tillman's state takes the remnant of white goods from the shrubbery. A lady in that state has sued for a divorce on the grounds that her husband who had formerly been an inveterate smoker had discontinued the practice on account of extreme nervousness. She states in her petition that she is inordinately fond of the scent of burning tobacco and he has knowingly and wittingly deprived her of one of the chief pleasures in life.

The world loves a man with a cheery smile, the man with roses on his tongue, the man who although he sees your boy's dirty face makes mention of his bright eyes. Who notices your own shabby clothes, but praises your studious habits, the man who sees faults, but whose tongue is quick to praise and slow to blame. We all like to meet the man whose bright smile lights up our dreariness like a ray of sunshine on a gloomy day, whose very hand shake is an inspiration and whose "God bless you is sweeter than the music of the brown-throated nightingale. There is an abundance of trouble in the world, but we need not increase it. There are numbers of people who die ahead of time, and there are living men who have crossed the river of Styx on several different occasions and they are unfortunately the ones who are least prepared to cross it in reality. If you know anything that will make the world better tell it, if on the other hand what you know would tend to lower the moral standard keep this knowledge to yourself. If you have faith preach it, if you have doubts bury them and do not mar the joy and brightness of some other soul by injecting these doubts in their lives.

THE CHICAGO NEWS:

Mr. Bryan says that a "bounce steer" led the party into Wall street in 1892, but Mr. Cleveland continues calmly rocking the baby and reading fable stories.

WOULD NOT BE

AMISS IN KENTUCKY.

Under the caption, "Colorado Needs a Few," the Denver Post says:

Somewhere back in Missouri they have a sheriff who is so kind, who refrains to allow a mob to hang one of the prisoners under his charge.

"You're foolish, Whit," argued the leader of the bloodiest crowd, who happened to be a personal friend. "The best people of the country are here, and your refusal will kill you politically."

"To hell with your best people!"

roared the doughty sheriff. "What do I care who gets killed political专访! I represent the law of government that was established by the death of a darned sight better man than any of us, and if I die, politically or any other way, I'll die in d-d good company."

Not the best of grammar, nor quite elegantly expressed, but the sentiment could hardly be improved upon.

Men who are not afraid to die politically are rather scarce.

A sheriff who would rather be in good company than in questionable company alive would attract attention almost anywhere.

It is somewhat difficult at times to hold in view the vital fact that governments are not founded upon passion and that they cannot be maintained by mob rule, however meritorious the object of such irresponsible action.

Yet these are the most essential principles in the safeguarding of every civilized community.

Please forgive me to invite certain discussion.

To permit their violation is to assist in undoing the good work for which thousands of men better than we sacrificed their lives.

To defend them to the death—either morally or physically—is to die in d-d good company."

All honor to the Whitties!

May their tribe increase and prevent a wasted earth!

Kentucky is looking up, but like other States north and south, would be better off with a few such sheriffs as this one from Missouri.

POINTS ABOUT PEOPLE.

Dr. Desha Breckinridge, of the Lexington Herald, with his wife, were at Denver last week with Mrs. Breckinridge's mother, who is in residence. Mr. and Mrs. Breckinridge, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Glendale, Mr. Springs and other of Oklahoma's active points, expecting to return early this week, when Mr. Breckinridge would return home. Mrs. Breckinridge remaining at Denver for a time with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Adal E. Stevenson, of Bloomington, Ill., who were at Waukesha, Wis., for some weeks this summer, have returned home. The ex-vice president who began life in Christian county, Kentucky, as a boy, retains much of his old-time physical vigor. He has a great interest in the people and places throughout many sections of the country visited by him in past campaigns and is a marvelously good story teller. Mr. Stevenson's manner is that of the country gentleman of the old school. The neighborhood in which he spent his boyhood in Christian county was that of what is now known as Herndon, then known as Blue Water. Near the springs was the old school house and to this spring, in the campaign of 1902, Mr. Stevenson and Col. Joe F. Ford went and sat down and talked over the politics of the day and exchanged opinions. Mr. Stevenson remembers vividly Hon. Folk Laffoon, Hon. Hunter Wood and other of the older prominent public men of Hopkins and Christian counties and promises, if possible, to be with Kentuckians at "Kentucky Day" at the St. Louis Exposition next year. Mrs. Stevenson, who was before her marriage, a blue grass belle, is beautiful, white-haired, sweet in spirit and young in her sixties.

A Story About General Clay.

The late General Cassius M. Clay was a graduate of Yale, a member of the class of 1832. Sometimes he would tell of a rebuke that he once gave to an impudent classmate. He was writing in his room, writing a letter to some girl, when four of his friends were with him. Who, when he pretended to be absorbed in a book, was slyly reading the somewhat ardent letter that flowed from the Kentucky student's pen. Clay suddenly became aware of this impropriety, but he made no sign. Only he wrote in his letter:

Let Us Help You Find a Home in the South West.

Along the Cotton Belt Route, where land can be bought for $2, $3, $5 an acre up—cut-over timber land that affords good range for live stock; fine bottom lands, oaks, hickories, oaks, cotton; uplands for fruits and vegetables—peaches, pears, plums, strawberries, tomatoes, potatoes, onions, turnips, radishes, etc. Land at fancy prices in the North on account of excellent qualities and undivided ownership of our sections.

A land will live here is cheap—about $7 to $8 a thousand, fuel for the cutting, range for the stock mostly in the year round, good soil for the tall trees from March to December. The farmer who pays his high rent in the North, or still worse out in the West, is saving a fortune here. This thing is life by not securing a home in the Southwest.

SPECIAL RAILROAD EDITION.

The Bee Will Issue Illustrated Number Devoted to Henderson Division

L. & N.

INTERESTING HISTORIC DATA WILL BE Published for FIRST TIME.

THE BEE'S special railroad edition will be one of the best railroad papers ever issued in Kentucky. In addition to the personal write-ups of the railroad men of the Henderson Division and their half-tone cuts, it will contain views of important railroad buildings along the line, such as the new passenger station at Louisville, the Union passenger house at Howell and Earlinton, the depot at Earlinton and other places and views of passenger and freight trains. A complete history of the Henderson Division from the time it was surveyed up to the present time, the changes it has undergone and a great deal of interesting railroad data will be given in this edition.

The great many of the men on the division have already subscribed for copies of the special railroad edition and others are subscribing every day. We are offering a thoroughly creditable special edition of THE BEE and want the operation of every railroad man on the Henderson Division. It is gotten up in their interest and benefit, and consequently should receive their liberal patronage.

W. F. Sheridan, our recent train master said before he left for Mexico that a railroad paper of this character was worth $5 to any H. D. railroad man now and in the course of time would be worth $20, on account of the personal write-ups of the men if nothing else.

All of the dispatchers, including the chief, several conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen have already signed contracts for copies of the edition. Foreman L. H. O'Brien is a subscriber, as is also Mr. Walsh and Supt. Jno. W. Logsdon, of Evansville. We want every employee of the H. D. to get this edition of THE BEE and feel sure it is well worth the price asked.

A Woman's Complaint.

It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or local treatments, as advocated by the above doctors. There is a safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion by purifying and enriching the blood, which purifies the liver and keeps it healthy.

The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower is directly on the liver, cleansing and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation. It also cures constipation and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottles, 25 cents; regular size, 40 cents. At all druggists.

Save the Children.

Ninety-nine out of every hundred disorders that afflict the human body are caused by the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia is just as good a child as any for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps the little stomach sweet and courageous, and encourages the appetite.

Prof. Harry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says: "My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol Dyspepsia, I highly recommended it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet.

MARCHING HOSTS IN SAN FRANCISCO

Grand Parade of the Military, Naval and Civic Bodies of City and State.

ONE OF THE FINEST DISPLAYS EVER SEEN ON PACIFIC COAST.

The Veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic Had the Opportunity to See the Present Patriotic Generation in All the Pomp and Circumstance of Glorious Wars.

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—The parade of the military, naval and civic bodies of the city and state was held yesterday. The marchers, magnificently furnished an impressive spectacle for the vast crowds of people who packed the sidewalks, windows, roofs and every point of vantage along the line of march. It was certainly one of the most splendid ever seen here, and the interest and enthusiasm prevalent among the spectators who greeted their special favorites in each branch of the service with running cheers as they passed in the procession.

An inspiring scene.

The scene, as the troops, both regulars and state, in their uniform, marched along the gaily decorated streets with banners flying and bands playing, was one which will long remember by those who saw it. Sharpshooters on appointed hour the bugle gave the signal to advance, and following orders from headquarters, the military, naval and civic organizations wheeled into line in their appointed positions. Col. J. B. Fuller, in Grand Army uniform, led the advance, his chief of staff, Col. W. Edwards, and chief aide, Col. J. F. Bergin, both dressed in full uniform, the two nations in grand review.

Composition of the Parade.

Following came first division. This was composed of detachments of United States troops, sailors and marines, including the Eleventh infantry, three and second battalions coast artillery, United States marines and sailors, the latter under command of Lieut. J. P. Morton, the senior commanding officer of the regular troops was Lieut. Col. C. H. Muller.

The second division was made up of regiments of the National guard led by Maj.-Gen. John H. Dickinson and Brig.-Gen. C. F. Muller. This detachment was made up of the First and second battalions coast artillery, United States marines and sailors, the latter under command of Lieut. J. P. Morton, the senior commanding officer of the regular troops was Lieut. Col. C. H. Muller.

The third division was made up of regiments of the National guard led by Maj.-Gen. John H. Dickinson and Brig.-Gen. C. F. Muller. This detachment was made up of the First and second battalions coast artillery, United States marines and sailors, the latter under command of Lieut. J. P. Morton, the senior commanding officer of the regular troops was Lieut. Col. C. H. Muller.

The naval battalion came next, attracting the admiration of the crowds of spectators as they went past, dragging their Gatling batteries. The veteran reserve, Co. A, followed as special escort to a body of ex-united prisoners of war.

Then came a line of carriages containing two abreast, with the guests of the day and dignitaries, military and civic.

With the third division, marshaled by Col. Chas. Brixton, marched the brass band of the National Association of Civil War Veterans and the Spanish-American War Veterans. In field guns, under command of May H. T. Lane.

The fourth division, made up of the First regiment of the League of the Cross, was headed by Col. O. F. Long, and the band of the veterans.

The Army and Navy led the Fifth division, which had in line Phelps' squadron, United States Veterans Navy No. 12, the Gen. Lawton camp of Spanish-American War veterans, No. 12, the Philadelphia. Commander W. Simonsen commanding, and several local organizations.

In Picturesque Attire.

A representative of the Improved Order of Red Men in the picturesque attire of the old time braves of the forest and plain, made up the sixth division, followed by local military and benevolent organizations forming the seventh, eighth and ninth divisions.

GUDGER WAS NOT SURPRISED

When He Left Bogota He Understood That the Panama Canal Treaty Would Be Rejected.

New York, Aug. 19.—Ezequiel A. Guder, United States consul at Panama, died in the Colon, when told of the rejection of the canal treaty by Colombia, said:

"When I left Bogota it was understood that the vote in the senate stood 17 to 7 against the treaty with three doubtful votes and that the treaty would be rejected."

Cross Arctic Circle in Automobile.

Walter, Okla., Aug. 19.—General Payne, Monday, received a cablegram from Charles J. Glidden, who is making an extensive automobile tour of Europe, saying that he had so far covered 3,500 miles and that he had crossed the Arctic circle in his automobile.

He also stated that he had officially deposited with the Swedish government an American flag, which had carried across the Arctic circle.

Fatally Injured By Dynamite.

Walter, Okla., Aug. 19.—Prof. E. Horn, who recently prominent in Alabama educational circles, was fatally injured here by the explosion of a stick of dynamite which he was horribly mutilated.

CANAL TREATY REJECTED

Widespread Disappointment at Action of Colombian Senate.

ENCROACHMENT ON COLOMBIAN SOVEREIGNTY RESULTING FROM THE TREATY GIVEN AS CAUSE OF REJECTION.

Colombia, Aug. 18.—All Colon and the Isthmus of Panama is in a fever of excitement and widespread disappointment at the rejection of the canal treaty by the Colombian senate. High authorities on the isthmus believe that the Colombian government, despite possibly insist on the right of the United States to purchase the canal enterprise from the French company. Colombia already having taken the sale, and then take immediate steps to settle the matter with the United States is determined to go through with the matter, at the same time informing the Colombian government that the obstacles in the way of the transfer, viz., the lack of money in the treasury and jurisdiction over the territory involved, etc., are questions for subsequent settlement and possible arbitration at The Hague. Other people think that Colombia will soon recognize the seriousness of her mistake in rejecting the treaty, as she has been offered a large sum of money and the wife—The Wife Was 26, and a Society Woman.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 18.—Mrs. Lila Maude Evans, wife of George D. Evans, manager of the American Transfer Co., was murdered in her home in the southern portion of this city early Saturday. Last Wednesday she filed suit for divorce. The murder was most cold-blooded. According to the hired girl, she was aroused by shots, and the loud voice of a man. The man, according to the girl, fired two shots at Mrs. Evans, both of which went wide of the mark. Then catching hold of Mrs. Evans by her hair, he dragged her to the side of the bed nearest him, deliberately placed his revolver against the back of her neck and fired. The shot literally blew the woman's head off. The murderer then escaped.

Mrs. Evans, who was 26 years old, was a society woman. She was married to Evans in 1898. In her suit for divorce she alleged drunkenness and cruelty, and at the same time sought damages for mental pain $300 per cent of the sum occupied by the company of which he is manager. The property, Mrs. Evans asserted, belonged to her, and in addition she asked an order restraining Evans from disposing of two valuable race horses and other property which she also belonged to her.

Mrs. Evans attracted much attention last March during the tenement strikers strike, when she and other women drivers refused to take out of the barns for fear of violence at the hands of the strikers. Mrs. Evans made several trips, perchance on the seat of a big truck, to the front of the building where the freight houses driving fearlessly through the crowds of jeering strikers. Once when some of the strikers tried to cut the horses' traces laid the men with her whip, and proceeded without being struck more than once.

LOCOMOTIVE
BLASTS

J. M. Scott, chief dispatcher of the first division at Louisville, says the first division is ahead of all other divisions in everything but overtime and he does not care to be ahead on that.

J. W. Moore, of Louisville, who has been working for the L. & N. as operator for a number of years, has been off some time now on account of poor health, but is improving now and will no doubt be able to resume duty in a few weeks.

The double track on the First division now extends from Louisville to Lebanon Junction. No wonder the First division has less overtime than the Henderson division. If the double track for that distance was on the Henderson division there would be no such thing as overtime on the division.

Beginning with next week THE BEE will in addition to the Henderson and St. Louis division news, give the Memphis Line and First division happenings.

On request of several of the railroad men who wish to be in the Special Railroad Edition of THE BEE and have not had an opportunity to have photos made we have decided to extend the limit for photos to Sept. 1st and expect photos to be in this office by that time.

Never in the history of the L. & N. R. R. has business all over the system been as heavy as it is at the present time.

Why does Miss Money talk and talk?

And of stopping make no mention?

No doubt it is because she has Mr. World's whole attention.

CHRONICLES.

1. Now it came to pass in those days when the Beckham ruled over that land which abounded in blood and darkness that there dwelt in the city of Earlinton a certain patriarch, one John, who is also called the Franklin.

2. And the same John was of the tribe of Hopkins, an upright man who feared God and eschewed evil. He and his household gave alms and offered sacrifice daily.

3. From their youth up had they walked in the way of the Free-for-destination Baptist, believing with them that whatsoever is to be will be, even though it should never come to pass.

4. Now when the seventh month was fully come the patriarch spake unto Emily, his wife, after this manner, saying:

5. "Hearken unto my voice, O Emily, the wife of the patriarch, and I will tell thee the things which I shall utter, for I have a revelation to make unto thee."

6. "Wot ye not that we be old and not young, having lived out the three score and ten appointed unto man, yet verily, we be not spring chickens."

7. And yet a little while longer and we, even we, will cross the last river and will sit on front seats twanging harps of gold with those who have gone before us and come up out of the water."

8. And Emily, the wife of the patriarch, answered and said: "Yea, my lord, all the things thou sayest is wotted of me."

9. Then John, the patriarch, spake furthermore, saying: "Wist ye not, O, Emily, wife of the patriarch, that each day when the eleventh hour is fully come that a great chariot which wise men have builded, passeth through this city upon the road of fire?"

10. Moreover the night of this chariot is swifter than the flight of an eagle and it belches forth fire and brimstone.

11. And much people, hundreds, yes, even thousands journey upon this chariot unto distant cities in but little while as one would visit a neighbor who is nigh unto him."

12. And the wife of the patriarch answered and said: "Yea, my lord, all these things I wisteth."

13. Then the patriarch spake again, saying: "Look then unto me, O, Emily. When the first day of the eighth month is come we will array ourselves in purple and fine linen and get on the great chariot and journey unto the land of the Hoosier and visit those who are re-lated unto us."

14. And these sayings pleased Emily, the wife of the patriarch, and straightway she made preparations to go unto a distant country.

15. And when the first day of the eighth month was come, there arose within it was yet early and she awoke and dressed it. She also kneaded dough and baked it upon the hearth and they did eat.

16. Then the patriarch arose and sought a razor and mowed his countenance until his face was smooth as an onion having been peeled.

17. He also put oil upon his hair and wrought upon his head with combs and brushes until a fly could scarce stand thereon.

18. And his sandals he coated with John's Clarendon polish until one could look upon them and behold his face sufficient shaven.

19. And the same John's raiment was purple and fine linen and he had a leathern girdle about his loins and an upright collar encompassed his neck roundabout.

20. And Emily, the wife of the patriarch, was arrayed as the Queen of Sheba, in silken apparel with rings upon her fingers and ringlets and braids within her hair and her jewelry was gold and precious stones.

21. And it came to pass when the eleventh hour was nearly come the patriarch and Emily went forth to meet the great chariot.

22. And when they were come unto that street which is called Straight the people marveled and were greatly astonished, insomuch that their eyes hanged out on stems, and some said: Behold a bridegroom cometh.

23. And others mocked these, saying: Ye have not sufficient sense to see egg beneath a goose that is wont to lay. Don't even the bay birds in Texas, wot that this is but the patriarch and Emily, his wife, and yet ye say: Behold a bridegroom cometh.

24. Now it came to pass that the patriarch and Emily drew nigh and entered within the greatchariot and in a short space of time they reached the land of the Hoosier, even that city which is called Linton.

25. Now be it known that the same Linton is a city of the un-circumcised, who walk after the manner of John the Mitchell, and Jim the Wood who fear not God neither regard them man, if he be from Hopkins county.

26. And as a cat bathes salt even so they say the salt who walk not after the mine worker, accounting them as heathen and strangers and scabby even as Lazarus.

27. It came to pass when it was known in the city that a patriarch and his wife from Earlinton abode therein that their wrath waxed to a welding heat.

28. And they arose as one man and went unto the house wherein the patriarch abode and called for him, saying: Art not thou he that is called Franklin, and he said: Yes, I am he.

29. Then they quashed on him with their teeth, saying: Verily art thou the man who is one of old E. E. Bowens and with such we have neither part nor lot.

30. Therefore, we say unto thee: Arise, and pat thou thine dad blast-ed feet out of this town ere the sun goeth down, or thine infernal hide will scarce contain those shucks which men are wont to glean from corn.

31. Now, when he heard these things, he hearkened to the patriarch and said: I am a man of peace and not of war. So he went within the house and bare the tidings unto Emily, his wife, and their married daughter, with whom they sojourned.

32. And even as he spake there came unto him certain unities, who in days agone dwelt within the land of Kentucky, and were known unto the patriarch. Among them were Harland the Rich and Bill the Woodall, William the Smithite, also Lee and Bill the Snobites, and they all said: "We will go with thee."

33. What doest thou in this goodly land of the Hoosier, ye old sea? Arise, and get ye quickly into thine own city, or by the great horn spoon, we will split thy dad blasted hide with a Hickory, if so that the sun goes down on our wrath and ye remain.

34. Now, when she heard these words the daughter of the patriarch cried out in anger, and she laid hold of a red hot poker and beat it within the face of he that spake, and he fled, greatly affrighted lest he be gathered unto his fathers.

35. Now, Emily, the wife of the patriarch, hath a tongue as a ready writer, and her temper is as hornets when they are molested with a pole.

36. Her words are many, even as Webster's Unabridged. When she heard these sayings, she became hot as a pepper mill in Hades, and she cried unto them with a loud voice, saying:

37. "Go to, ye contemptible, cow-dy spawn! ye cow-dy who would best a patriarch who is already sufficiently old to be thine grandfather. Ye have not enough manhood in ye to endue a single scarecrow. Ye, ye would corrupt the morality of a sheep killing, suck egg, yaller hound, if we allow ye to associate with him!" and with many words of wrath did she rail on them, telling them that she would return unto her own land, where all were free and patriarchs not beaten of mob.

38. The selfsame hour the patriarch gat he him a chariot and departed at night to a city sixteen miles away, that he might meet the great chariot, and the garment was overcast with clouds, and a mighty wind arose, the lightning blazed from the East unto the West and the thunder rolled as great chariot wheels through the courts of Heaven.

39. And the wife of the patriarch strove to cheer him, saying: Fear not the tempest, lord for the God of our fathers has given us dominion over the Old serpent, even the devil, bath dominion over the unities. Let us therefore flee, even in this tempest from the land of the Hoosier.

40. And the patriarch answered her, saying: Thou sayest truly, and if it pleases our God to hold judgement in the land of the Hoosier then we must perform return once more except we get a change of venue, and we will fervently pray that the final session will be held Southward of the Ohio river, that we may be forever spared entering the land of the Hoosier and the unities.

41. And when that was come unto that street which is called Straight the people marveled and were greatly astonished, insomuch that their eyes hanged out on stems, and some said: Behold a bridegroom cometh.

42. And others mocked these, saying: Ye have not sufficient sense to see egg beneath a goose that is wont to lay. Don't even the bay birds in Texas, wot that this is but the patriarch and Emily, his wife, and yet ye say: Behold a bridegroom cometh.

43. Now it came to pass when the eleventh hour was nearly come the patriarch and Emily went forth to meet the great chariot.

44. And when they were come unto that street which is called Straight the people marveled and were greatly astonished, insomuch that their eyes hanged out on stems, and some said: Behold a bridegroom cometh.

KENTUCKY DAY."

World's Fair Officials Want to Give One Day Over to the Bluegrass State.

What was the greatest day in Kentucky's history?

The officials of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition to be held in St. Louis next year want to set aside one day to be known as "Kentucky Day" and have invited the Kentucky Exhibit Association, which is raising the funds by private subscription—the legislature having failed to make an appropriation—for the State Building and display of products and resources, to fix the date.

The Association is anxious to name a day that will be surrounded by association which appeal to a majority of Kentuckians and calls on every citizen interested to make a suggestion. All communications on the subject should be addressed to Secretary R. E. Hughes, Louisville.

Exercises in keeping with the occasion will be conducted at the Kentucky Building at the World's Fair on whatever day is named as "Kentucky Day." The Exhibit Association is to be influenced by the opinion of a majority of Kentuckians in the matter and will appreciate and welcome all suggestions.

Point in Fashionable Millinery.

The high crown remains a popular style, in straw as well as lace, chiffon and tulle. In almost every instance the brim is wide all around, with a slight flare off the face. Plumes and tips offer manifold possibilities in the adornment of high-crowned hats. The revival of the little bonnet with strings will, doubtless, be a success, and the season advances. Gossamer materials and straw braids are used to fashion them, and ostrich tips, lace and sequins form the decoration with the settings usually of velvet ribbon. The youthful lace looks especially well under a flat plateau or the new sailor with very low crown and rather wide brim, though either shape may be varied by rolling back the brim on one or both sides or by making it wider on the side than the other. The smartest hats in white, gray or fawn felt, with a simple ribbon or scarf trimming. Velvet ribbon in width varying from half an inch to two inches is much in demand in the millinery world. The broad widths are used to form the quilting that encircles the low crowns of the new sailors, as well as bows for and rosettes. Both fruit and flower shapes are to be popular decorations for the early Autumn hat, and in the reds, dark greens and blues. Flowers should be particularly seasonal. Birds, too, are used and are admirably suited to the present flat style of trimming.—From the Dealer for September.

To You.

Young man, you can Make a hit—IT.

It's up to you to do what you were made for and fed and prayed for.

So don't sit down and frown And groan and moan And waste—sit tall at Fate—

And speak of a clique—

Those foolish events!

From coming this way. A sure way To invite disaster, which comes the faster If you beckon to it—for then you wo't.

Just say, "I will do better than Bill Or Ned or Fred or Ted."

Or the case may be. Because, you see,

Thing's half done that's well begun.

There's something you can do In a way to pay.

Don't whine or grunt, but do your part.

And after a while you'll smile And say, "I may Be happy yet."

You bet!

Was Once a Resident of "Stringtown on the Pike."

A special from Cincinnati to the Courier-Journal says:

Mrs. Sophie Lloyd, eighty-three years old, mother of Prof. John Uri Lloyd, author and chemist, died of heart failure today at Prof. Lloyd's home, in Price Hill, a suburb. She had been failing in health for years, but was confined to her bed only a few months. Mrs. Lloyd was a daughter of Noah Webster, a descendant of the author of Webster's dictionary. She reared a family of three sons and a daughter at "Stringtown on the Pike," made famous in Prof. Lloyd's famous book by that name. The sons are: Prof. Lloyd, N. Ashley Lloyd, former treasurer of the Cincinnati Baseball Club; O. G. Lloyd and Mrs. J. D. Nead, of Kansas City, Mo.

A colored preacher recently enlightened his congregation in regard to the conditions existing in the infernal regions in the following manner: "Brethren, I has been asked how hot is hell, an' I will say, after givin' de subject considerable reflection, dat yo' took all de wood in York state, all de coal in Pennsylvania, an' all de oil in de world, an' set all on fire, an' den took a man out o' hell an' put him in dat burnin' mess, he would freeze to def' befo' he's fa'ly lit! Dat' how hot is hell!"—Courier-Journal.
